CCEE Student Spotlight

Congratulations to Lorelay Mendoza, an ENVE undergraduate student, who was just selected as a MARC scholar. Maximizing Access to Research Careers is a competitive two year program that supports underrepresented and minority students who are pursuing a PhD. As a MARC scholar, Lorelay will benefit from tuition assistance, travel allowance to attend conferences and a research stipend to continue her work on biological aspects of river restoration with Dr. Natalie Mladenov in the Water Innovation and Reuse Laboratory.

Graduate Classes in Peru

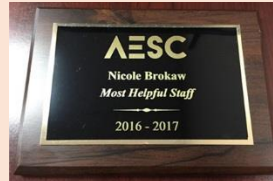

Dr. Victor M. Ponce taught two graduate classes: 1) Open-channel Hydraulics; and 2) Environmental Hydrology, at the Technical University of Loja, Ecuador, June 5-16, 2017.

Senior Banquet Awards

Please help me congratulate our Professor Tim Smith who won two awards at the Senior Banquet held in May 2017 for the graduating class. They awarded him both the AESC Best Faculty 2016-2017 from the Civil, Construction, & Environmental Engineering Department and a Certificate of Recognition for the 2017 Most Influential Faculty Award for Joseph Akers (our candidate of distinction for 2017).

Senior Banquet Awards

Sometimes the staff is honored with an award as well and this year provided our Administrative Assistant, Nicole Brokaw, with two! She would like to express her deepest gratitude to the students for the recognition. She was awarded with the AESC Most Helpful Staff and a Certificate of Appreciation from the ASCE Student Organization.

Last month, we mentioned Joseph Akers as our Candidate of Distinction, and we thought we would provide you with a photo of him receiving his award along with Dr. Monte Mehrahabi, Dean of the College of Engineering (left), and Dr. Janusz Supernak, Interim Department Chair (right).
